Project: how a company makes money

For the teacher. Every number comes from the filing named next to it.

What a full project has

Part A: a named company, financial year, consolidated or standalone, exchange and filing date, and two aspects with a reason each.

Part B: four page numbers, and one heading that differs from the textbook (for example "revenue from operations" and "other income" as separate lines).

Part C: every number used in Part D appears in the log with a page. Spot-check three of them against the annual report.

Part D: each calculation shows formula, numbers and result, with the unit. Percentages and ratios are rounded the same way throughout.

Part E: each result is explained in plain words about the business. Remove and give no points for any opinion on buying, selling or holding the shares.

Checking the numbers

If the company has a Cityfort stock page, its "The numbers" table, its ₹100 receipt, its "Business segments" section and its "Financial strength" section show the consolidated figures with their sources. A student's number that differs may be standalone, a different year or a different unit.

Notes

- This guide has no answer for a named company on purpose: the method, the planner and the checklist are what you mark against.
